AIRCRAFT AND AIRCRAFT-PARTS PRODUCTION IN INDIA

HINDUSTAN AIRCRAFT FACTORY BUILDS TRAINER -- Allahabad, Bharat, 6 Jan 53

Bangalore, 4 January -- Jagjivan Ram, Communications Minister of the Government of India, yesterday awarded the "Type Certificate" citation to the first aircraft constructed in India. The award was given to the Hindustan Trainer-2, which was designed and constructed entirely at the Hindustan Aircraft Factory in Bangalore.

Patel (fnu), chairman of the board of directors of the aircraft factory, who is also a secretary in the Defense Ministry, accepted the certificate from Communications Minister Ram.

ORDNANCE PLANT TO PRODUCE AIRCRAFT PARTS -- Allahabad, Bharat, 19 Jan 53

Jubbulpore, 17 January -- It has been learned from authoritative circles that the Jubbulpore Ordnance Factory will begin producing various aircraft parts, and that modern equipment and machinery are being installed in the plant for this purpose. The Jubbulpore plant is the largest ordnance depot in Asia. Its importance will be increased when it begins manufacturing aircraft parts.

The Defense Ministry has ordered the relocation of the following establishments: (a) the Jubbulpore Technical and Development Establishment, to be transferred to Poona (it has 700 employees); and (b) the Indian Metallurgical Establishment in Calcutta, to be transferred to Jubbulpore.
